

How long after purchase will milk keep in the refrigerator?

Written by Admin

Thursday, 24 December 2009 13:30 - LAST REVISED Thursday, 24 December 2009

The shelf life of milk is affected by several factors including how the product was handled before it reaches the consumer. When stored at 40 degrees Fahrenheit and not left unrefrigerated for extended periods, it should last approximately 7 days past the sell-by date on the container.